- Concerned with the long run of time rather than own lifespan or those of other humans
- Fully expresses anger, even hostility, but expressions are intellectually used rather than emotionally or manipulatively
- Sees life as an up-and-down journey; chaos and order are accepted as normal
- Replaces anything artificial with spontaneity, simplicity, and ethics that “make sense”

- Seeks after a variety of interests; elects to do his/her own liking – not what is trendy, popular, or valued by others
- Cannot be coerced, bribed, or intimidated: No compulsion to control or to be controlled by others
- Will run gamut of being gentle to ruthless, conformist or nonconformist, based on factors involved in the circumstances and overall interests of life itself
- Locates his/her core motivational and evaluative systems within, thus becoming relatively immune to external pressure or judgment
